Never Enough: Mattering as a Solution to Toxic Achievement Pressure

Wednesday, October 30, 2024 | 7 PM

Crittenden Middle School Auditorium, Mountain View
(Please note venue change)

In this eye-opening talk, Wallace investigates the deep roots of toxic achievement culture, explores its harmful impact on our kids, and delivers the powerful solution: mattering, the psychological concept of feeling like you add value and are valued regardless of your external achievements. Wallace provides a practical mattering framework that parents and educators can use to tackle achievement pressure at home and in the classroom.
